

Nurse Assistants

The Greacan staff feels that it is high time the students of McLane met their school nurse, Mrs. DeLanty. Her previous schooling has made her a qualified and capable nurse. Most students are familiar with only half of Mrs. DeLanty's tedious work. Keeping complete health records for all students, supervising the work of post-graduate nurses, keeping supplies for the first aid stations, and helping in the adjustment of students to their surroundings after an illness, are only a few of the daily tasks that occupy Mrs. DeLanty. Through the day she is aided by five capable assistants. These girls are planning to participate in a medical career.
